GETTYSBURG BATTLEFIELD, Pa. (AP)—A mammoth pageant-parade features today's commemoration of the battle of Gettysburg more than 100 years ago.

The parade was expected to take two hours to pass through the streets of this famous town. Five armed forces bands and 15 historical and high school bands set the musical pace for the procession. Grand marshal was Maj. Gen. Henry K. Fluck, commander of the 28th Infantry Division of the Pennsylvania National Guard.

This is the centennial of the second day of the great battle when Confederate troops under Robert E. Lee drove in vain to dislodge federal forces commanded by Gen. George Gordon Meade from the heights.

One hundred years ago tonight two fateful decisions were made—by Meade to stand firm on Cemetery Ridge and other hills and by Lee to launch the next day the heroic assault led by Gen. George Pickett, an attack which failed and spelled the coming doom of the Confederacy.

This little town—population 8,000—is entertaining many visitors from North and South but there are indications that the crowd is not nearly as big as had been hoped. Only 3,000 turned out at the Eternal Peace Memorial Monday for the big official opening of the commemoration. Blistering heat, rising at times to nearly 100 degrees, may have kept many people away.

Monday's ceremonies included: the laying of 29 wreaths at the base of the memorial—men from that number of states took part in the great struggle; the issuance of a special blue and gray five-cent stamp; and the lighting of a Torch of Peace.

City Income Tax Planned In Flint

FLINT (AP)—Proceedings calling for a one-half per cent city income tax on residents and non-residents working in Flint and on the city's businesses and industries were begun Monday night by the City Commission.

The commissioners said the tax would yield about $3 million annually and would provide funds to allow a pay raise of about 12.4 per cent for some 3,000 employees.

The commission's decision to go ahead with the income tax plan follows a June 4 rejection by Flint voters of a proposal to amend the city charter to allow the commission to levy a one per cent income tax.

The voters rejected the proposal by a 2-to-1 margin.

However, Michigan's recently adopted new State Constitution gives cities the right to levy an income tax without a referendum vote.

Ouster Of Soviet Diplomat In U.S. Causes No Clash

WASHINGTON (AP)—American officials doubt that the latest ouster of a Soviet diplomat for tripping over his cloak and dagger will make much of a splash in U.S.-Soviet relations.

Twenty-seven Russians have been sent packing from the United States in similar cases since 1950. Sometimes the Kremlin counter punches by booting an American diplomat out of Moscow. Despite the drama, East-West issues follow their course.

Monday the State Department ordered the immediate expulsion of Soviet Embassy "cultural attaché" Gennadi G. Sevastyanov, 33, accused of trying to recruit as a spy a Russian-born employee of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

The CIA employee—who in proper espionage fashion was identified only by the pseudonym of "John"—tipped off the FBI after he was first approached by the Soviet attaché on April 28.

FBI agents lay in hiding to photograph and document "John's" subsequent meetings with Sevastyanov, whom U.S. officials described as "an agent of the Committee for State Security (KGB), the Soviet Union's secret police."

The Washington spy case, which comes hard on the heels of security and espionage investigations in Britain and Sweden, also involved a third man: the CIA employee's brother who still lives in the Soviet Union.

U.S. sources said the brother was slipped into Washington last April under guise of being a Soviet official to help in Sevastyanov's attempt to recruit John.

The State Department put an end to Sevastyanov's activities here with a note handed to the Soviet charge d'affaires, Georgi M. Kornienko.

A Soviet Embassy spokesman denied the U.S. charge.

The brother, an employee of the Scientific Institute of Cattle-raising and Animal Husbandry in Frunze, a city in Soviet central Asia, left for the Soviet Union on May 4 and U.S. officials let him go. They figured he was only a victim of KGB pressure.

Wilkins, applauded more than 5 times by a calm, receptive, mostly Negro audience in a church auditorium on Chicago's South Side, had special criticism for two top Republicans—Sens. Everett Goldwater of Arizona and Everett Dirksen of Illinois, Senate minority leader.

Wilkins said the NAACP intends "this year and next to work actively for the defeat in the next election of those lawmakers who fail to support and vote for strong civil rights legislation."

Dirksen's leadership in the civil rights fight "can bring on moral disaster for the Republican party," Wilkins said. Dirksen opposes the section of President Kennedy's bill which would ban refusal of service to Negroes by places of public accommodation.

Wilkins' criticism of Goldwater, a spokesman for the party's conservatives, centered on what he called the senator's insistence on leaving the solution of race relations problems to the states.

A pilot program would provide up to 1,000 scholarships each for the Army and Air Force ROTCS. Neither service now has any such subsidy.

If Congress approves — and if it works out in practice — the program can conceivably be expanded to offer a larger number of scholarships.

The Navy already has such an arrangement, providing full four-year scholarships worth about $2,000 a year.

Civil Rights Big Test For GOP, NAACP Is Told

CHICAGO (AP)—Republicans face a major test in Congress on civil rights legislation, says Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Wilkins, in a keynote address Monday night to some 4,000 persons attending the kick-off meeting of the 54th annual convention of the NAACP, said "If in this human rights crisis, the Republican party has nothing to offer the Negro, then it has nothing of real value to offer the nation."

The Negro leader said the legislative fight, "in a very real sense, will be a test of the raison d'être (reason for being) of the Republican party."

Wilkins, applauded more than 5 times by a calm, receptive, mostly Negro audience in a church auditorium on Chicago's South Side, had special criticism for two top Republicans—Sens. Everett Goldwater of Arizona and Everett Dirksen of Illinois, Senate minority leader.

Pentagon Plans College Subsidy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon soon will propose offering hefty college scholarships in an effort to draw picked young men into advanced Army and Air Force reserve officer training programs, it was learned today.

The Defense Department plan is to grant up to $1,300 a year to young men who are chosen to enroll in advanced two-year ROTC courses and who agree to stay on active duty for at least four years after college graduation.

A pilot program would provide up to 1,000 scholarships each for the Army and Air Force ROTCS. Neither service now has any such subsidy.

Rain, Wind Break Drought And Heat Over Small Area

Ending a period of drought and heat, nearly an inch of rain fell in Escanaba Monday evening—but the relief was limited in area for only a few drops of water came down at Bark River some 15 miles from Escanaba.

The precipitation was the only reported rainfall in Michigan and Wisconsin on Monday, said S. E. Decker, U. S. Weather Bureau meteorologist.

Winds up to 58 miles an hour plus lightning caused considerable damage in the area, unroofing a building at Hyde, starting a fire near Bark River, and breaking trees and power lines. At the Delis Supper Club the reunion of the Class of 1923 the power failure resulted in an impromptu program by candlelight.

Home Damaged

The 83/100ths inch of rainfall in Escanaba last evening brought the total so far this year to 9.27 inches, which is about 3 inches below the normal for the period. June rainfall was 1.71 inches below normal here.

The peak winds of 58 miles an hour hit the area at 7:34 p. m. and twice during the rain and thunderstorm hail fell, ranging in size from one-quarter to one-half inch.

Four miles north of Bark River at the Melvin Racicot farm lightning struck the dwelling, starting a fire that caused $800 damage to the building and $1,200 to the contents. Mr. and Mrs. Racicot were in the barn and the children were in the house when the lightning bolt apparently struck wires and then entered the house, causing damage to the south and southeast sections of the dwelling.

Shed Flattened

Clothing, furniture and other contents of the house were damaged by fire, smoke and water. The Bark River Fire Department with Chief Herman Palmgren and 12 volunteers brought the blaze under control.

A large machine shed at the Clarence Sundquist farm at Hyde on the Pine Ridge School road was badly damaged by wind.

"The shed is about 90 feet long and 30 feet wide and the roof was torn away and about one-half the building was flattened by the wind," said Sundquist. "Keith and Kermit Larson, who have been helping me here on the farm, said they saw a black cloud and then the roof went sailing away and landed in a field a distance of about 100 feet away."

"We were sure glad the rain—but it didn't have to come that hard," Sundquist added.

Many Trouble Calls

Bolts of lightning played tricks here and there in the city, knocking out electric power transformers and keeping city electricians busy answering trouble calls.

At the Robert Crepeau home, 1030 S. 30th St., lightning struck a metal rod between two wooden posts, built as play equipment for the children. The posts were blasted to splinters.

Several basements were flooded including those of Hugh Harris, 1605 S. 15th St.,

Red Buck Camp Opening July 7

Red Buck Boy Scout Camp is to open July 7 and continue until Aug. 10. It will have one of its busiest years and is presently filled to its capacity of 125 a week for the scheduled five weeks of operation. Over 44 troops from the Upper Peninsula area served by the council will be represented.

Council communities having one or more troops in camp will be: Sault Ste. Marie, St. Ignace, Newberry, Ishpeming, Gwinn, Palmer, Eben Junction, Munising, K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, Manistique, Iron Mountain, Kingsford, Niagara, Caspian and Iron River.

A new chapel area was constructed by members of the Order of the Arrow last fall and will be available for use. On June 15 about 50 Scouters and friends of Scouting held a workbee at the camp to get it into shape for the season. The dock was repaired and covered, a new diving board installed, storage building porches replaced and painted, the tool shed re-roofed, stained and trimmed. The Order of the Arrow rebuilt its obstacle course and improved the campfire circle at its annual meeting at the camp June 29-30.

John M. Ohlson of Ishpeming is the council's chairman of the camping and Activities Committee and Richard Florence of Iron Mountain will be camp director.

Each Wednesday, July 7 through Aug. 10, is visitor's night and all parents, Scouters and friends are invited to visit camp from 7 p. m. through the campfire program.

Indian Fires Once Glowed In Caves Overlooking Bay

By CLINT DUNATHAN

Two young men from the University of Michigan are in Delta County on an archaeological field study trip by which they hope to find some of the answers to prehistoric mysteries of the area.

They are Richard Peske of Ann Arbor, who is working on his doctorate, and Dan Higgins of Birmingham, Mich., a senior at the University. Their work this summer is financed by a grant of the National Science Foundation, and the total project includes excavations by other teams at Grand Rapids and Saginaw.

"The area of our study is along the north shore of Lake Michigan from St. Ignace to Menominee," said Peske. "There is at this time very little knowledge of prehistoric materials in this region. We are also looking for old Indian village sites for possible excavation next summer."

Caves Explored

They started their survey two weeks ago at Cedar River, found nothing of significance there, and moved on to the Garden Peninsula on the east side of Delta County.

On Big Summer Island off the south tip of the Peninsula they made a test digging. Here they found artifacts that dated back some 1,500 years. Copper beads, a copper awl, plus projectile points and bones of sturgeon and whitefish were found at the site.

In the same area and of more recent history was the discovery of a large U. S. penny, a coin which had been punched with a hole so that it might be worn as an ornament.

The caves in Burnt Bluff on the Garden Peninsula are another center of archaeological interest to the young men. Here they found evidence to establish the fact that the caves in the face of the bluff overlooking Big Bay de Noc were once occupied.

Rare Indian Paintings

"Digging in the debris on the floor of the caves we found bones of fish and birds," said Peske. "There was evidence of fire indicating that there had been camping and living within the shelter of the caves. An arrowhead was also found here. There was definitely an early occupation here, possibly before Christ," he added.

The paintings on rock at and near the caves "are authentic and the only ones of their kind in Michigan," Peske said.

After a Fourth of July weekend at their homes, Peske and Higgins will return to the Garden Peninsula to continue their explorations. "Undoubtedly we're going to stress the Garden Peninsula area because of what we have found there," they said. While here they visited the Delta County Historical Museum where Dave Coc, museum director, opened to their inspections the cabinets containing a growing collection of prehistoric Indian artifacts.

Jet Crash Fatal

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A Navy jet fighter crashed short of the runway at Point Mugu Monday, killing the radar intercept officer and critically injuring the pilot.

The Navy identified the dead man as Lt. William S. Porter Jr., 34, of San Diego, son of Mrs. Edna B. Porter of Alma, Mich.

Gypsy Offered By Keweenaw Players

To celebrate the Fourth of July, the Keweenaw Playhouse is presenting Gypsy this holiday week. The show will open on July 2 and run through July 7.

The play, a musical comedy success story that could only happen in America, was suggested by the memoirs of Gypsy Rose Lee, a burlesque artist who rose to stardom as a stripper.

Karen Looze will play Rose; Herbie will be played by Tom Boyd, who was seen as Papa Yoder in the Playhouse's opening production, "Plain and Fancy." Making her debut at the Keweenaw Playhouse in the role of Louie is Broadway-actress Lilian Wilder.

Fishing Laws Hearing Called

Public hearings will be held in mid-July at Escanaba and the Higgins Lake conservation school to discuss proposed changes in commercial fishing regulations, the Conservation Department announced.

The Escanaba hearing will be held July 16, starting at 10 a. m. in the State Office Building. Persons unable to attend the hearing may present their views in writing to the Department's fish division, Lansing 26.

The changes, tentatively approved by the Conservation Commission, would place suckers open to year around fishing and remove their minimum size limit in the state's Great Lakes waters.

Following the regular hearing, commercial operators and others will have a chance to give their opinions on a number of additional changes proposed by the Michigan Fish Producers Association.

The MFPA proposals call for: Removing the closed season on perch; changing the Oct. 15-Dec. 10 closed season on whitefish in lakes Huron and Michigan to Nov. 4-Dec. 5; lifting restrictions on commercial fishing in the Grand Marais area, Grand Traverse Bay, and a part of Potawatimiss Bay; and opening Saginaw Bay to northern pike fishing throughout the year.

State To Record Blasts In Superior

ANN ARBOR—The Institute of Science and Technology at the University of Michigan will participate in a joint Canadian-U. S. explosion seismic experiment in Lake Superior July 8-31.

Together with teams from a number of other universities and agencies, IST acoustics and seismics laboratory scientists will record tremors caused by the firing of some 60 underwater explosions in an effort to learn more about the structure of the earth's crust.

The "explosion" line will run from Knife River, Minn., to Michipicoten Harbor, Ontario. Carnegie Institution of Washington researchers will conduct the firing from a U. S. Coast Guard ship, while data will be collected on tremor size and seismic velocity at various sites surrounding the lake.

Michigan will have seven recording stations. Two will be in Minnesota and five in the Upper Peninsula. One of the five will measure water pressure fluctuations in the lake.

Legion Urges Flag Etiquette

Members of the American Legion, Cloverland Post 82, today called attention to the correct manner of displaying and saluting the American Flag in preparation for the Fourth of July.

Actually, there are 16 holidays during the year on which the Flag may be flown.

The Flag should always have the stars to the left with the fabric floating to the right.

When hanging with stripes in a vertical position against the wall, the stars should be in the upper left-hand corner. If carried in a parade with other flags the American Flag should claim the place of honor—at the right.

If flown from a staff, the flag should be used at the speaker's right and should never be used to cover the speaker's platform. When displayed with another flag or flags against a wall from crossed staffs, the flag of the United States should be at its own right with its staff in the front.

The flag, when it is in such condition that it is no longer a fitting emblem for display, should be destroyed in a dignified way, preferably by burning.

It is the custom to display the flag only from sunrise to sunset on buildings and on flagstaffs in the open, but it should not be displayed on days when the weather is inclement. It may be displayed at night upon special occasions.

During the ceremony of hoisting or lowering the flag, or when the flag is passing in a parade or review, all persons present should face the flag, stand at attention and salute.

Those present in uniform should render the military salute. When not in uniform, men should remove the head-dress with the right hand and hold it at the left shoulder, the hand over the heart. Women should salute the flag by placing their right hand over the heart. The salute to the flag in a moving column is rendered at the moment the flag passes.

American Student Group Of 59 Pays Visit To Havana

HAVANA (AP) — The spokesman for 59 American students who evaded U.S. restrictions by flying to Cuba via Communist Czechoslovakia says the Cuban Student Federation invited them and agreed to pay all expenses.

The American students arrived Sunday on their self-styled fact-finding visit despite a warning of possible prosecution when they return home.

"They (U.S. authorities) menaced us with prison or fines," said Levi Laub, 27, of New York, spokesman for the group. "Well, they are afraid we will learn what papers say on Cuba is lies."

Laub, who said he is a student at Columbia University, added, "We came to Cuba to see for ourselves whether or not we like what is happening here."

Another student called the trip a defense of the right of free travel. Helen Fleming, 18, San Francisco, said she didn't think the group had broken any law.

The group flew from Prague, Czechoslovakia, in a Cubana Airlines plane and was put up at the luxurious Hotel Riviera.

Marshall Attends Fire Training School At Ames

Marvin Marshall of the staff of the Hiawatha National Forest attended the recent training session for federal foresters with the fire control simulator at the University of Iowa, at Ames.

James Jay, a former ranger at Rapid River, and now with the U.S. Forest Service's Division of Fire Control was one of the instructors in the course.

The electronic forest fire control simulator developed by the Forest Service is the newest fire-fighters' training tool.

With aid of three projectors and two tape records the simulator can reproduce the sound and fury of a forest fire, showing on the screen wind changes, and fire and smoke direction. Ground equipment, aircraft and crews are deployed in the training on the screen by a symbol-projector. The trainee determines what men and equipment should be ordered to combat and suppress the fire.

Achievement Threatened

The Upper Peninsula celebrated this year an achievement unique in its history. It marked the friendly collaboration of the United Steelworkers, the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co., the cities of Marquette, Negaunee and Ishpeming and other elements in a successful effort to revise the tax levies on underground iron ore.

The shift mining industry was in a crisis. Underground ore has largely lost its steel mill markets to higher grade foreign ores and to domestic beneficiated ores. Underground ores couldn't be beneficiated (upgraded) economically because the extra cost of processing made them too high priced.

Lowering of taxes would help save the industry. The union, mining company management and the communities directly affected teamed to accomplish it in the Michigan Legislature. It was a type of teamwork and legislative response long sought in Michigan as an ideal and a saving force for the state's industry. And here it was accomplished!

The reduction of taxes encouraged Cleveland Cliffs to venture in the beneficiation of underground ores to save a mining industry vital to the economy of the Marquette Range, but now the industry is under a new threat that may destroy a part of the benefits achieved by the new tax legislation.

The new threat, say CCI officials, is the new wage package negotiated between the steel industry and the United Steelworkers. The mining end of the Steelworkers Union is a minority whose interests are related to those of the mill workers but not identical and the lumping of their interests has resulted in some dislocations in the past.

The terms of all the steel wage package hasn't been worked out, but there was obviously dismay in mining circles over major items like the 13 weeks paid vacation. The vacation would apply once every 5 years for half of each firm's workers with the longest seniority. Under the old contract employers have been setting aside 3 cents an hour for vacation and savings and the total will be increased to 12.5 cents an hour to meet the cost of the 13-week plan, which goes into effect Jan. 1 covering 487,000 employees. It will apply at first to workers with 14.5 years or more of service.

The mining companies regard any increased cost of production as serious in situations like the underground ore production on the Marquette Iron Range. Hugo E. Johnson, president of the American Iron Ore Association explained the industry's situation in a recent address to the Lake Carriers Association. He predicted that the movement of iron ore will continue in increasing amounts for generations to come, but said "It is safe to predict that iron ore in the future will come from those areas of the world where total costs of mining and shipping the ore to markets can result in the best 'price-quality' ratio."

The first concern of the United Steelworkers is for the welfare of the steel mills. They are well served by this outlook. But it raises some serious questions about the marginal jobs of their brethren in the underground mines of the Upper Peninsula. The mills will be working, but there's a cloud over the mine headframe.

Musical Defeat

For 33 years the New York Philharmonic Symphony has been broadcasting fine music nationwide. Its weekly radio airings have been great landmarks. But there will not be a 34th year.

With obvious reluctance, the Columbia Broadcasting System announces the end of this much-cherished effort. The trouble, says the network, is that the programs no longer are cherished enough.

For much of the Philharmonic's history on the air, the nation heard live broadcasts on Sunday afternoons. Millions got their first real taste of serious music and learned to love it.

Then change came. Participating local stations began dropping out. Audiences diminished. Low-priced long-playing records helped them build musical collections and do their own programming.

The network shifted the broadcasts to Saturday evening. Many stations taped them and offered them at differing times. Suddenly there seemed no public interest left.

It is sad that this great enterprise must end. But let CBS and the Philharmonic have the nation's highest praise for this superb contribution stretching across a third of a century.

The Doctor Says:

Dust Sometimes Stirs Allergy

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Q—I have an allergy to dust. What is the treatment?

A—In some persons with a hard-to-define allergy, common house dust may be the culprit. But often it is hard to pinpoint the element in the dust that is responsible.

Dust is a combination of human and animal dandruff, molds from both outdoors and indoors, lint, clay, and soot.

The treatment is similar to that for any other allergy. Avoid contact with dust, especially by inhalation, as much as possible. Your doctor may prescribe epinephrine and antihistamines for relief of symptoms. For long-range protection, get desensitizing shots.

Although commercially prepared house dust antigen can be used for this purpose, the best results are usually obtained by using a preparation made from the sweepings in your home.

Q—Tests show that my adrenal glands are overactive. Is this Cushing's disease? Could it cause cancer?

A—Cushing's disease shows up in an excess of fat which accumulates in the face, causing "moon-face"; in back of the shoulders, causing "buffalo hump"; and in the abdomen. The blood pressure is increased, the victim tires easily, there is an excessive growth of hair on the usually nonhairy parts, there may be bleeding under the skin, and the bones become weak through a lack of ability to retain calcium. As a result, they may collapse.

With more than half of the victims, a tumor of the adrenal gland is the cause. Changes in the pituitary gland are usually present, but these are probably a result, and not the cause, of the disease.

Since some of the tumors of the adrenal associated with Cushing's disease are malignant, it would be more correct to say that this type of cancer is a cause of the hyperactivity of the adrenals than that the hyperactivity caused the cancer.

Surgical removal of the adrenals is the recommended treatment, in any case. This was not possible before adrenal cortical hormones became available but now, with these supplements to replace the essential adrenal secretions, persons with Cushing's disease can be restored to a more normal life.

Q—My right hand turns numb when I go to bed every night. What would cause this?

A—Numbness can result from injury to a sensory nerve in the hand or to a disease anywhere throughout the sensory pathways. It is impossible to pinpoint the cause of your numbness without a thorough examination.

Q—What is radiculitis? My doctor has me wear a body brace for it.

A—Radiculitis is an inflammation of the root of one of the large nerves that branches off from the spinal cord. A body brace should help you to avoid making movements that would irritate this nerve. Treatment depends on the

Edson In Washington Letters To The Press

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A Negro march on Washington scheduled for Aug. 28, to influence passage of civil rights legislation would be the third such capital demonstration in American history.

The march of "Coxey's Army" of 500 unemployed during the 1893 depression was first. The marchers were led by Jacob S. Coxey, later mayor of Massillon, Ohio. Coxey had what was then considered the silly idea that the government should authorize a $500 million bond issue to finance public works which would give the unemployed jobs.

He failed to influence Congress, which rejected his notion as a proposal to print $500 million in paper money to give to the unemployed. Coxey himself was arrested. His army dwindled to 300, and finally faded away in despair.

Just how "silly" Coxey's idea was may be indicated by the fact that last year Congress appropriated $400 million for President Kennedy's accelerated public works program to relieve unemployment. This device was also used by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt to create jobs during the depression of the 1930s. Coxey was simply 40 years ahead of his time.

Shortly before Roosevelt's election in 1932 came the second march of the unemployed on Washington.

This was the Bonus March of 5,000 unemployed veterans. They demanded that their adjusted compensation insurance certificates of 1924 be paid in cash on demand, instead of 20 years after issuance or on the death of the insured, if that came first.

There were several bitter riots in Washington until federal troops drove the Bonus Marchers across the Potomac to a camp on what is now Pentagon grounds.

Congress then passed a bill giving the marchers 75 cents a day and railroad fare home. They were finally cleared out at cost to the Veterans Administration of $77,000.

It was not until 1936 that Congress settled the veterans' grievance by making the adjusted compensation certificates transferable into government bonds, which could then be cashed on demand.

History never repeats itself exactly. But both Coxey's Army and the Bonus Marchers left lessons applicable today.

Neither demonstration stamped Congress into granting the petitioners immediate relief. The reforms they sought came later, but ultimately they got what they were after.

What is being planned now, however, is not a Washington demonstration by a mere 500 or 5,000 bedraggled marchers arriving on foot. Negro leaders are talking about a pilgrimage of from 100,000 to 150,000, or probably 300,000.

It is no idle dream. Over 120,000 Negro protesters marched peacefully in a Detroit freedom walk on June 24, then quietly dispersed without incident.

The march is planned as a peaceful demonstration. Negro leaders have declared that if there is to be violence the march should be called off. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy is using his influence to have the march called off, fearing that it will get out of hand and believing that it will do no good in influencing Congress for the Negro cause.

Some Negro leaders seem to think, however, that if a filibuster against civil rights legislation develops in the Senate, this mass protest would help break the deadlock.

Mt. Everest Feat Is Described By MSU Geologist

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State University's mountain-climbing geologist, Dr. Maynard Miller, said Monday it took good organization, immense determination and a large amount of good luck for the American expedition to scale icy Mt. Everest this Spring.

The tanned, lean scientist told newsmen the traverse of the mountain's summit was "the outstanding achievement in Himalayan mountaineering."

Flanked by his wife, Joan, and his 9-year-old son, Ross, at a news conference, Miller said it was a "great relief" to be home.

The 42-year-old native of Seattle, Wash., is an associate professor of geology. He joined MSU in 1959 and earned a Ph.D. at Cambridge University in England in 1956.

He has led research expeditions to the Juneau icefield in southern Alaska since 1946, and has directed MSU's Glaciological Institute on that icefield since the institute was established two years ago.

He termed the expedition to Alaska, where he'll be going in August, "sheer joy compared to the Everest area."

Miller suffered a painful foot injury during the ascent of 29,028-foot Mt. Everest, breaking four bones when the foot was caught between two granite blocks.

He was on top of one of the blocks, some 19,000 feet up, when the ice beneath it began flowing. He said he might have jumped but was afraid the fall would injure the sensitive gravity meter in his knapsack.

The block carried him into a crevasse and pinned his foot. Two other members of the expedition helped pry one block up, freeing him.

Dr. David Dingman, one of the physicians on the trip, elected not to treat the foot at the time because of the danger of frostbite.

Because of the accident, Miller did not go up to the 26,000 foot mark as he originally had planned, instead of staying at 23,000 feet.

The geologist praised Dingman, a 26-year-old native of Ann Arbor who is serving a residency at a Baltimore, Md., hospital. He said Dingman saved the life of Barry suffered from hypoxia because of a lack of oxygen.

The MSU geologist's reason for being on the expedition was to gather data on glaciers and weather.

LIFELINE

FOR MRS. PETERSON

Mrs. Garold Peterson of Kalamazoo will never forget that February day when her telephone line became her link with life. Here's how she described it in a letter to the Kalamazoo Gazette:

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter in Bronson Hospital. On February 6 I had an internal hemorrhage and fainted in my home.

I was alone at the time. When I came to I managed to get to our telephone, but I was not able to sit up, so I lay on the floor and dialed the Operator. I seemed to drift off, but the Operator kept talking to me and she got help.

She stayed on the line with me the full time until my husband arrived from downtown. She also called a sheriff's car and the ambulance.

I don't know her name but I know she is a very wonderful and thoughtful person and I want very much to thank her.

We hope you will never desperately need the help of an "unknown Operator." But isn't it good to know she's always there?

Mrs. Mary M. Lorenz

Mrs. Judy Leetka

Mrs. Mary M. Lorenz and Mrs. Judy Leetka have been identified as the Operators who worked together to aid Mrs. Peterson. Both are "always thankful" for a chance to help someone in need.

Lure Of Water Takes Death Toll

By BOB VOGES
Associated Press Outdoor Writer
EAST LANSING (AP)—A young person under 20 years is going to drown between 2 and 7 p.m. on a Sunday in July, probably because of a boat collision or capsizing.

The fault most likely will be that of the boat operator.

The insurance companies have proven that you can't beat statistics. And state police statistics show this to be the most common type of water fatality.

Michigan's water wonderland, with its many lakes and rivers and long Great Lakes shoreline, takes a high yearly toll in drownings because of the very attractiveness of the water.

State police recorded 457 water accidents last year, 209 of them fatalities.

An extensive study was made of the nature of the accidents.

July was found to be the peak month for water accidents. The weekend period—Friday through Sunday—accounted for more than half of the accidents with Sunday the most dangerous day. The critical period on the most dangerous day was between 2 and 7 p.m. on Sunday.

More than half of the persons drowned were under 20 years of age.

The most common type of boat accident was a collision or capsizing. Most boating accidents were attributed to some failure or neglect on the part of the operator.

Populous Wayne County had the most water accidents and the largest number of fatalities—65 and 28.

Only one northern Lower Peninsula county—Iosco—and two in the Upper Peninsula—Mackinac and Marquette—had more than five drownings each. Southern Lower Peninsula counties, with their higher population, had the bulk of the accidents and fatalities.

Campbell Lake Receives 1,500 Largemouth Bass
Efforts are well underway by the Conservation Department to plant nearly 386,000 largemouth bass, northern pike, walleyed pike and muskellunge fingerlings in some 28 Michigan lakes where fishing success has lagged during recent years.

The plantings, most of them experimental, are designed to build up populations of these predatory game fish to a point where they can eventually help control stunted panfish numbers and yield more keeper-size catches.

Releases of young largemouth bass have already been made and include Campbell lake, Delta county, 1,500.

Wage Disparity—Differences in earnings between men workers and women doing the same work under similar conditions are illustrated in this Newschart. The figures are for 1960, the data from the U. S. Department of Labor. The 1961 median income of males was $5,655 and $3,351 for females. Starting salaries for women college graduates are $50 to $100 less than for men. In industry, women machine operators and assemblers received an average $1.70 an hour as compared to $2 for men. A National Office Management survey in 1961 showed a third of nearly 2,000 employers had a double pay standard for men and women employees.

Lampricide Use To Be Extended

ANN ARBOR—The Great Lakes Fishery Commission approved expansion of the chemical war against the sea lamprey at its annual meeting at the University of Michigan.

The 44 remaining untreated lamprey-producing streams centered on the east shore of Lake Michigan will receive initial applications of lampricide by the summer of 1966, according to plans approved by the U.S.-Canadian agency. Fifty-four Lake Michigan streams have already been treated.

The Commission also approved re-treatment of streams as required in Lake Superior where the sea lamprey population has been reduced by 80 per cent through chemical control methods.

The lamprey, an eel-like fish parasite equipped with a sucker mouth has virtually destroyed valuable lake trout populations in the upper Great Lakes since it moved into the waters just before World War II.

Rehabilitation of a lake trout breeding population, through stocking of young hatchery-raised fish, is proceeding in Lake Superior where chemical treatment has been centered.

Timber Resources Mapped By State

Conservation Department foresters this week began the summer long job of remeasuring timber resources of three Upper Peninsula state forests to provide updated guidelines for managing these public lands.

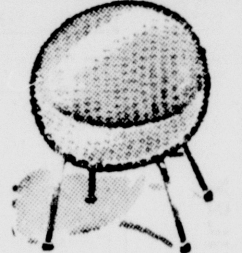

During the next few months they will check some 32,000 marked trees in Michigan's Sturgeon River and Escanaba River state forests.

The inventory will tell foresters how fast these trees have grown since they were last surveyed in 1956, and the number that are in good or poor condition. Equally important, it will indicate the volume, size, quality, and kind of wood ready for harvesting, or growing for future production in the three state forests which embrace nearly 500,000 acres.

The survey will also determine timber losses caused by fires, insects, disease, and other factors during the last seven years.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I have been happily married for 20 years. My problem is an unusual one. My husband seldom laughs.

He sits there with a half-smile while others are in near hysterics over something they find hilarious. Naturally everyone wonders if HE is crazy — or if THEY are. This behavior has baffled me for years. Lately it has become downright maddening.

I've considered all the possibilities and have eliminated them one by one. His teeth are nice-looking and in excellent condition. His hearing is perfect. He is very quick to grasp an idea. Nothing escapes him.

He claims he does not have a superior attitude and moreover he can't understand why his placidity bothers me. Can you give me some insight? — WIFE OF STONE FACE

Dear Wife: Reactions to pain, embarrassment, sorrow and humor, vary — depending on early training and conditioning. I see no reason for you to be unhappy with your husband because his reactions are of a lower voltage than yours or your friends.

This is what Lord Chesterfield said about laughter in "Letter To His Son":

"Loud laughter is the mirth of the mob, who are only pleased with silly things; for true wit or good sense never excited a laugh since the creation of the world. A man of parts and fashion is therefore only seen to smile, but never heard to laugh."

Dear Ann Landers: I am a store manager with a sticky problem.

A man who has been employed by this firm for almost 18 years is a notorious Romeo. He is competent in his work and has seniority, which complicates matters. I've had to fire three young women in the past 22 months because they became involved with him.

Currently he is hot on the trail of a middle-aged employee. They leave together for coffee breaks twice a day and everyone knows they are dating outside the store. The man's intentions are NOT honorable and I hate to see him make a fool of this nice woman.

She needs the job and I don't want to fire her. I can't fire him. Yet as store manager I feel I should not allow this affair to flourish right under my nose. What are my responsibilities? — TORN

Dear Torn: Your responsibilities are to continue to manage the store and let the employees manage their own lives — even though they are doing a poor job of it.

Firing the woman would not put an end to this affair. It would only add to her problems. Stand by and help her pick up the pieces.

I don't know if Ginger goes after my boy friends on purpose or if it just happens. But it seems we can both know a boy for years and when I start liking him then she gets interested, too.

In April this dreamy fellow moved here from Michigan and I was the first girl he dated. We got along great and I was on the verge of getting his I.D. bracelet. The next thing I knew he had asked Ginger to the wind-up dance which is the biggest blast in a junior girl's whole life.

Now they are going steady and I am out. Please tell me what to do. — ROBBED

Dear Robbed: No girl can "steal" a boy friend. You lose out because the boys lose interest. If it weren't Ginger it would be somebody else. Examine your relationships and try to learn why they fall apart. THIS is your real problem.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry — Is It Love Or Sex?" enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. Lodge Looks Forward To New Viet Nam Post

NEW YORK (AP)—"I am extremely excited about going to Viet Nam," says the new ambassador's wife, Mrs. Henry Cabot Lodge. "I am looking forward to it more than I can say."

Now that's the sort of comment you'd expect from a diplomat's wife. Its enthusiastic, gracious, with just the right touch of lady-like gung ho. But with Emily Lodge you can be sure she means it. She wouldn't have said it otherwise.

"It's a fascinating part of the world," she continues the telephone interview, the edge of restrained excitement still in her voice. "Cabot and I were there—let's see—when George was a year old. That was 34 years ago. I remember it as a very beautiful country."

She concedes they'll be walking into a touchy situation, what with a war going on there against Communist-led guerrillas.

"It's a challenge," she agrees cheerfully, "and that's what makes it interesting. I'm forced out of my supine position. I don't move, you know—she gives a self-deprecatory laugh—"unless someone pushes me. Honestly, though, I'm terribly excited about going."

She hasn't thought about what clothes to take—"just cool ones." No one will worry, though, when she does make her wardrobe selection. Mrs. Lodge is known for her unerring taste in suiting the costume to the situation.

Putting people at ease is second nature for Mrs. Lodge, a brown-eyed, brown-haired woman in her mid-50s.

While her husband was a U.S. senator 19 years and ambassador to the United Nations seven years, she was a charming hostess, combining dignity with refreshing candor. But she liked to keep out of the limelight.

In 1960 when she traveled with her husband in his campaign for the Republican vice presidency, she described her contribution as "I just pick up things we forget to pack, see that Cabot's fed, that sort of thing."

Since the campaign, she says, "I've just been enjoying myself." She has spent most of the time at their 14-room French provincial home in Beverly, Mass., which looks over the Atlantic Ocean.

Federal Agency Takes Airport's Range Equipment

Mayor Harold Vanlerberghe conveyed to the federal government today the Omni Range air navigation guidance system at Escanaba Airport in a ceremony at the airport at 11 a. m.

Acting with the mayor was Fred Waite of Lansing, assistant director of operations, for the State Department of Aeronautics, which owned the equipment.

Accepting it for the Federal Aviation Agency was Harley E. Shottliff of Detroit, Michigan traffic supervisor for the FAA. The FAA has been given full right to operate and maintain the station and to modify it. The transfer relieves the City of Escanaba and the State Department of Aeronautics of a $100 a month telephone bill each, which they paid to maintain remote control of the station from the Marquette Omni installation.

Omni means "many directions." It is an electronic navigational guidance system installed by the State Aero Dept. at a cost of $23,000 at Escanaba Airport in August, 1959, the first such installation in Michigan. Since then one has been built at Gaylord and another is projected at Mt. Pleasant. The trend in this guidance field for aircraft is from state and municipal to federal control.

There are other guidance facilities in the Upper Peninsula at Sault Ste. Marie, Whitefish Point, Marquette, and Menominee, and at the Air Force bases.

The Escanaba Omni station operates at 110.8 megacycles 24 hours a day the year around. It has a transmitter and receiver so aircraft navigators can talk to it as though the facility were operated from Escanaba Airport, but the controls are handled remote from Marquette.

The equipment transmits a signal over the 360 degrees of the compass so that airborne equipment can choose one and by keeping its needle centered bring itself to the airport on the course chosen. The equipment tells whether the flight is toward or from the port.

Pontiff Praises Efforts To End Racial Barriers

ating man to his own image and likeness."

Prayers For Peace

It was at this point that the pontiff spoke of Kennedy's efforts to end discrimination. Then, turning to the subject of peace, he said:

"Universal peace in charity and justice can be achieved, and we feel that the efforts of the United States will bear fruit and help to secure for all peoples of this troubled world that peace which will enable them to prosper and to enjoy the blessings which God intends for them. To this end, following the example of our predecessors, we, too, are dedicating our prayers, our energies, and our life."

"We extend to you a heartfelt welcome, and through your excellency we wish to send our greetings to Mrs. Kennedy, to your family and to all the citizens of your country, invoking upon them the abundant blessings of God."

Pope Paul read his speech in English after the private audience and after Kennedy presented members of his party, including Secretary of State Dean Rusk and the President's sister, Mrs. Jean Smith.

Visit In 1939 Recalled

The Pope read from an armchair, not a throne, sitting at the same level as Kennedy alongside in another armchair.

The Pope recalled meeting the President when Kennedy came with his father to the coronation of Pope Pius XII in 1939. Pope Paul also recalled he had visited the United States twice and commented:

"We were able to experience personally the many admirable qualities which have made yours a leading member of the family of nations. The warm and sincere hospitality which was extended to us wherever we went left upon us a lasting impression."

The papal audience for the rest of the President's party lasted 10 minutes.

Kennedy presented the Pope a desk box in vermeil gilded silver, lined in red velvet and with the papal coat of arms and the presidential seal engraved on the lid. He also gave the pontiff a silver-framed autographed photograph of himself.

Medals For Children

Pope Paul presented the President a small reproduction of Michelangelo's Pieta, which Pope John had agreed to send to the New York World's Fair next year; a rosary for Mrs. Kennedy; an autographed photograph of himself, and small medals on gold chains for the President's children.

When the audience was over, the Pope and the President shook hands.

The 35th President of the United States and the 262nd pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church met on the threshold of the papal library at 10:11 a.m.—4:11 a.m. EST. Kennedy had been two minutes late arriving at the Vatican.

After the 65-year-old pontiff greeted the 46-year-old President, the two men immediately entered the library for a private talk.

A crowd described by the Italian state television network as "discreet" watched behind barriers as the President's open black car drove across St. Peter's Square and into the St. Damasus courtyard under a warm sun. Secretary Rusk rode with the President.

Palatine Guards in 19th century uniforms snapped to attention, trumpets blared.

Kennedy and Rusk got out of the car, and the band of the Palatine Guard played "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Vatican ceremonial and protocol attendants greeted Kennedy, and escorted him to an elevator. Archbishop Gennaro Verolino, secretary of the Vatican's Ceremonial Congregation, welcomed the President.

On the second floor, the presidential party was escorted by papal ushers, footmen and Swiss Guards through twisting corridors lined with Swiss Guards.

In the apostolic palace's small throne room Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, Vatican secretary of state, greeted the President and then the President was escorted alone to the papal apartment.

The Pope's private chat with Kennedy lasted for 40 minutes, 13 minutes longer than President Eisenhower's private audience with Pope John XXIII on Dec. 6, 1959.

President Kennedy, first Catholic president of the United States, is the third U.S. chief executive to visit a Pope while in office. Woodrow Wilson had an audience with Pope Benedict XV in 1919.

Beach Opens; Water Temp. 80

The Gladstone bathing beach officially opened last Saturday and Jim Green, head lifeguard, reports that conditions are excellent, with the water temperature averaging about 80 degrees.

Parents have been asked to control their small children while they are at the beach, especially those under seven years of age. Green reports one instance so far of a two-year-old child, unaccompanied at the beach, who was rescued by the guards.

Another hazard reported by the lifeguards concerns speeding by pleasure boats in or around the bathing area. These violators will be reported if they continue.

The beach closes promptly at 9 p.m. and no swimming after that time will be permitted.

Jim Green will instruct the beginners swimming classes which will meet on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Fridays and possibly Saturdays during the month of July. Children from Flat Rock will take instructions on Thursdays at 9:30 a.m.

Doug Bovin will instruct the swimming class during July and August.

Anyone wishing to enroll in the swimming classes for the month of August may do so at the bathing beach on Wednesday morning. An extra guard will be on duty during the swimming instructions.

The Escanaba Daily Press has expanded its circulation to the Newberry area. This means 200 more subscribers with more to come. This is valuable additional coverage to Press advertisers.

Report Theft Of $136 From Rural Home

State Police are investigating the theft of $136 from the Russell Sargent home on County Road 426, at Soo Hill, which occurred sometime Sunday afternoon.

According to police, the money was receipts going to the Fairmont Food Company, which had been collected by James Farrell of Rte. 1, Escanaba. Farrell and Sargent are both employed by the firm.

Police said they were told that Farrell was to begin his vacation this week and had turned the money over to Sargent last weekend to be turned into the company on Monday.

On Monday when the receipts were counted it was discovered that $136 was missing from the total amount due in.

Sargent told police that about 3:30 p.m. Sunday he and his family went to the Gladstone Beach for several hours. He said they didn't lock their doors. When they returned to the home about 5:30 p.m. to pick up an outdoor grill he noticed a correction slip used by the Fairmont Company lying on the kitchen table, which wasn't there when they left home, but he said he thought Farrell might have forgotten to put the slip in with the receipts and had dropped it off. The money was kept in a box on top of the refrigerator.

The shortage was discovered by the firm when the receipts were counted on Monday.

Lost Credit Card, Not Reported, May Prove Costly

NEW YORK (AP)—If you don't report losing your credit card and the finder uses it, you're liable for the charges, a State Appeals Court has ruled.

The case involved a Bronx real estate man who lost his gasoline credit card. The finder bought $569 worth of gasoline, tires and oil.

The appellate division of the State Supreme Court affirmed Monday a ruling last year by Civil Court that the Bronx man had to pay the bill.

GLADSTONE

Europe Needs U.S. Partnership, Adenauer Says

EDITOR'S NOTE — John M. Hightower, Pulitzer Prize-winning AP diplomatic reporter in Washington who accompanied the press party with President Kennedy, was granted an exclusive interview with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany. Here is his story.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany, speaking between meetings with President Kennedy and President Charles de Gaulle of France, said Tuesday European unity "must develop in close partnership" with the United States. At the same time, he defended the new friendship treaty between France and Germany, saying reconciliation of the traditional enemies "is the prerequisite for any form of European cooperation."

Adenauer expressed these and other views in an exclusive interview with The Associated Press. He also surveyed briefly his 14 critical years as Chancellor of West Germany and summarized the accomplishment which obviously has given him the most satisfaction.

Preparing To Retire

"A backward look at the past period of German political life in my opinion," Adenauer said, "shows the greatest achievement in the time that lies behind us to have been the re-integration of the Federal Republic into the community of free nations."

At 87, Adenauer is preparing to retire, and turn over the government to Deputy Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, 66.

But Adenauer does not look forward to idle days at his home across the Rhine, in Rhodorf, or his vacation retreat on Lake Como in Italy. He plans to write his memoirs, and he is ready to travel for his country if the new administration wants him to do so.

The interview took place in the Palais Schaumburg, where a week ago Adenauer conferred on Atlantic policy problems with President Kennedy. There he will receive De Gaulle Thursday for the first round of talks prescribed under the new French-German pact, which calls for regular consultation between Bonn and Paris.

The interview was based on written questions submitted in advance. Written answers were authorized for quotation. The informal exchanges in which he amplified his views were off the record.

Admirer of DeGaulle

The talk covered relations between the Western powers and the Soviet Union, Adenauer's conferences with Kennedy, his forthcoming meeting with De Gaulle, and his own plans. Expanding on the written replies, his comments left no doubt that he is a friend and admirer of De Gaulle and that he was well pleased with his talks with Kennedy.

If his reactions appear contradictory, it can be said that he does not see them that way. Adenauer is convinced, as Kennedy also has said publicly, that De Gaulle is committed to the essentials of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and that no discussions over policy will break the basic commitment.

Here are questions and answers spelling out Adenauer's views:

Q. Since you and President De Gaulle signed a treaty early this year setting up a special relationship between Germany and France there has been some apprehension in the United States and other Western countries that this relationship might develop contrary to the wider interests of the Atlantic Alliance. What is the purpose of the treaty?

A. If you are to be able to evaluate the German-French treaty rightly, you must see what preceded it in the way of conflicts between France and Germany over the course of centuries. You must see, in addition, that France and Germany are threatened to the same degree by the Soviet Union.

The treaty ends a conflict that has stretched over 400 years. It is that fact which gives the treaty its place in history. Since the beginning of our political activity in the Federal Republic, it has been our intention to establish a lasting friendship between Germany and France, and to prevent situations in which the two countries once more could be played off against one another.

Both nations today present a firm bulwark against the threat to Europe from the East. This friendship, too, is the prerequisite for any form of European cooperation. German-French friendship is the guarantee of peace in Europe. That is a factor of great significance to the United States.

For, as President Kennedy said here in Bonn, the United States was involved in both world wars because Germany and France faced each other as foes. I am absolutely convinced that this treaty will work out not only to the benefit of both peoples, but also to the benefit of all Europe, and of the peace of the world.

So far as the content of the treaty is concerned, in a certain sense it constitutes a model of the content of a treaty which could introduce the first phase of a political community of Europeans.

Q. Mr. Chancellor, you have guided German destinies through a remarkable recovery from the disastrous heritage of Nazism and war into a new historical era. What accomplishment do you consider most significant, most fundamentally important, during this decisive period?

A. A backward look at the past period of German political life in my opinion shows the greatest achievement in the time that lies behind us to have been the re-integration of the Federal Republic into the community of free nations.

The German people feel gratitude and friendship toward their allies and have made this feeling highly tangible.

Q. For several years U.S. leaders have been concerned about the dangers of a nuclear arms race among the Allies, fearing that if France developed a nuclear force a demand for such a force would arise also in Germany and perhaps in other NATO nations. Do you regard this as a serious problem? Do you feel that a multilateral arrangement, providing for joint ownership and control of nuclear weapons, affords a permanent alternative to national forces?

A. The Federal Republic seeks no national control over atomic weapons. Our government has welcomed the project for a multilateral naval force armed with medium-range rockets.

Within the realm of our capabilities we are ready to take part in this international project. I do not believe that other NATO nations will follow the example of France.

Q. Another issue which troubles Allied relations is that of trade between the European Common Market countries and countries like the United States and Britain which are outside the market. Does Germany's long-range interest lie in lowering tariffs, or does it lie in a protective system of duties and quotas?

A. The Federal Republic, within the framework of the European Economic Community, all along has supported a lowering of the community's external tariffs in respect of other trading partners. It is very much in the German interest that this policy of lowering the European Economic Community's common external tariffs is continued. A period of adjustment and transition is, of course, necessary. In addition, the American trade and tariff policy must react appropriately to this policy.

Q. Do you feel that future political development among the nations of the Western world will move toward some kind of super-national organization either in Europe or in the Atlantic community?

A. A European political and economic unification will come about, but along the way we must have patience. I should like to recall that a few weeks ago the parliaments (in Bonn and Paris) ratified the Franco-German treaty which is one of the most important prerequisites for European political cooperation. In other further work for Europe, we should proceed not dogmatically but pragmatically.

War Threatens British Guiana

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—British Guiana's political warfare between Negroes and East Indians threatened today to explode into racial warfare.

Police Chief Carl Ausin said he feared further violence after a Negro was fatally shot Monday in Plaisance, a village five miles from Georgetown, the capital. Rioting broke out when shops run by East Indians reportedly refused to sell to Negroes. Negroes sacked the shops.

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant says Hungary's amnesty of 3,000 political prisoners in April is "a big step toward the restoration of normal relations with other countries."

Thant arrived Monday for talks with Janos Kadar, Hungarian premier and Communist party chief.

BONN, Germany (AP)—NATO troops now must face West German courts when accused of violating West German laws.

A new law, which became effective Monday, removes one of the last vestiges of the occupation period. Heretofore foreign troops stationed in West Germany have been under the sole jurisdiction of their own commanders.

Bouton, Bunning Will Get Start In All-Star Tilt

BOSTON (AP)—Yankee yearling Jim Bouton or crafty Jim Bunning of Detroit will be the likely All-Star game starting pitcher for the American League and "The Monster"—Dick Radatz rates probable finisher.

President Joe Cronin announced the complete American League squad Tuesday, including New York manager Ralph Houk's seven mound selections for the July 9 classic at Cleveland. Only Bunning and Ken McBride of Los Angeles among the hurlers have seen previous All-Star action.

Jim (Mudcat) Grant of Cleveland, Boston Red Sox rescuer Radatz plus southpaws Steve Barber of Baltimore and Juan Pizarro of Chicago complete the pitching choices.

"Houk hasn't said a word to me about his starting pitcher but it will definitely be a right-hander," Cronin said after glancing at the right-handed-packed National League lineup. Only Cardinal first baseman Bill White and Giants catcher Ed Bailey hit from the left side.

One AL spokesman felt Bouton would get the starting nod off his 10-3 record and 2.45 earned run average. Another leans toward Bunning who has only a 4-9 mark this season but is working on an eight-inning scoreless streak in All-Star play and has a 1.50 ERA for 12 frames.

The eight All-Star players voted into starting berths by their fellow athletes will open the game with the exception of injured New York centerfielder Mickey Mantle.

Albie Pearson of Los Angeles is in his place. "Otherwise it's Detroit's Al Kaline and LA's Leon Wagner in the outfield with Minnesota's Earl Battey behind the plate. The infield regulars are Yankee Joe Pepitone at first, old pro Nellie Fox of the White Sox at second, the Twins' Zoilo Versalles at short and Boston's Frank Malzone at third.

Houk followed the second choices of the players except at first base where he picked Norm Siebern of Kansas City instead of Boston's Dick Stuart. He also added a third catcher, Don Lepert of Washington, and outfielders Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota and Tom Tresh of the Yankees.

Player-voted alternates whom Houk picked included outfielders Bob Alton of the Twins and Carl Yastrzemski of the Red Sox plus catcher Elston Howard of the Yankees. The infielders: 2b Boby Richardson, New York; SS Luis Aparicio and 3b Brooks Robinson, Baltimore.

Williams Returns To Spotlight As Yanks Top Bosox

By JIM HACKLEMAN Associated Press Sports Writer

Stan Williams, who quickly went from featured performer to bit player in the New York Yankees' cast of characters this season, is back in the spotlight—taking bows.

The huge right-hander was the star of the show Monday night as the Yanks took another forward step in their drive for the American League pennant, almost singlehandedly wrecking the Boston Red Sox in a 7-5 Bomber victory.

Williams came on in relief in the fifth inning, stifled a big threat, blasted a decisive triple in the bottom of the inning and turned the Red Sox back the rest of the way with a superb job of pitching.

It was the first standout performance in some time by Williams, who was a front-line starter for the Yanks as the season opened, after being acquired from the Los Angeles Dodgers for first baseman Bill Skowron.

He made an auspicious debut for the Yanks, beating Baltimore 5-1 with a five-hitter in the first week of the campaign, but as the season progressed, Williams' pitching slipped, and eventually he became a supernumerary in the bullpen.

He had last won on May 4 and had last appeared in a winning game on May 11—and carried a 2-3 record.

Williams squared that with a brilliant effort against the Red Sox. By winning, the Yankees made it four in a row over Boston and pushed 2½ games ahead of the runner-up Chicago White Sox.

In the only other AL game on the schedule, the Kansas City Athletics jumped out to a 5-0 lead against Baltimore and wound up with a 6-4 decision over the Orioles.

In the National League, Houston nipped first-place St. Louis 4-3 in 11 innings; the Dodgers climbed to within one-half game of the top, trimming Milwaukee 2-1; Cincinnati downed San Francisco 4-1; and Philadelphia gained a doubletrouncing the Pirates 8-1 after a header split with Pittsburgh, 2-1 opening game loss.

Williams came on for Jim Bouton in the fifth with one run in, one out, two on, the score tied at 5-5—and got Dick Williams to hit into a double play. On the pitching side, he allowed only one hit in 4½ innings—a double by Lu Clinton in the ninth. On the hitting side, he smacked a triple in the last of the fifth, that sent in the go-ahead run and then scored himself on Tony Kubek's single.

Kansas City rapped Oriole rookie Dave McNally for four runs in the first three innings, then went ahead 5-0 on Wayne Causey's homer off Ike Delock in the fourth.

Bill's Bar Wins Fourth Straight

RAPID RIVER—Bill's Bar scored its fourth straight Central League softball victory by defeating Perkins 21-3.

Orville Pedersen and Fran Lancour shared a five hitter on Bill's mound. Neurohr and Richard pitched for Perkins. Pedersen hit a bases loaded double and a single and Nookie Nelson a homer and single to pace the Rapid River attack.

In the other league game Ensign defeated St. Nicholas 28-15.

Log Birling Championship Event To Start Wednesday

Log rolling with a national flavor returns to this area for the first time in 10 years with the 1963 World Invitational Rolco championship beginning at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the Marina.

A field of eight birlers, ranked among the best in the world, will battle it out in the sport of the old-time lumbermen over two days, shooting for top prizes and trophies worth $1,000.

After Wednesday's first round matches, the semifinals and finals will be staged Thursday, July 4, starting at 1 p. m.

The meet will be run under the direction of one of the nation's top rolo officials, George Mathison of Chicago. A former resident of Gladstone, Mathison is executive secretary of the International Rolco Assn. and will arrive here tonight to take charge of the invitational championship matches.

Scattered through the championship competition will be a number of junior matches and special acts planned by the senior birlers.

There will be a strong local flavor to the birling competition. Among the competitors will be Bob Bizeau of Gladstone, Don Jacobs of Escanaba, Jim Ogle of Marquette and Mark Olson, former Escanaban now living in Peoria.

Bizeau is a veteran log roller, competing in most of the international matches since 1947. He has finished third on two occasions. The Gladstone birler has been whipping himself into shape for the two-day competition.

Ogle is favored among the Upper Peninsula men, coming off a peak year in 1962 when he was runnerup to Jubel Wickheim of Sooke, B.C., Canada, in the world's championship at Hayward, Wis.

Olson, native of Marquette and member of a famous hockey playing family, has an impressive birling background. The former Escanaba man has been runnerup in world championship competition four times and was consolation champion twice.

Jacobs is a relative newcomer to the sport and has been instrumental in making advance arrangements for the event which is being staged in conjunction with the Centennial celebration here.

Winners will return to action in their brackets Thursday, starting at 1 p. m., in semifinal competition. Losers will drop into the consolation division of the event.

Ray Heideman of Downey, Calif., will cross the country to enter the invitational tournament. President of the International Rolco Assn., Downey is a former resident of Eau Claire.

Rounding out the field will be three birlers from Hayward, Wis., the site of the world's championship events for the past three years. They are Howard Sieh, Steve Dunster and Jim Kusser, with Herb Boyle available as an alternate.

A distinguished figure in birling circles will be honored as a guest at the two-day competition. Billy Girard of Gladstone, former world log rolling champion, will attend the invitational matches. Girard won the men's world title in the 1926 event staged at Washburn, Wis. He was the world's trick and fancy champion in 1928 and teamed with a son, Adolph, to dominate that division from 1941 to 1954.

Speedboats Hit Over 100 M.P.H.

DETROIT (AP)—Any speedboat qualifying for next Sunday's Gold Cup classic on the Detroit River will be doing probably well above 100 miles an hour.

The men in the pits feel sure of this after defending champion Miss Thurtway of Seattle, driven by veteran Bill Muncey, roared around three laps Monday at an average speed of 113.207 m.p.h. in easily making the grade.

The U.S. V of Detroit, driven by Don Wilson, also qualified Monday, averaging 109.169 m.p.h.

Qualifications will run daily through the week, except for Fourth of July. A boat has to register at least 90 m.p.h. to qualify.

Boat Fumes Stop Detroit Swimmer

BIARRITZ, France (AP)—Detroit swimmer Mary Margaret Revell, overcome by gas fumes during a workout Monday, has postponed her attempt to swim across the bay from Biarritz to San Sebastian, Spain, from July 4 to July 9.

The 25-year-old blonde swimmer had been in the water about three hours when she signaled the escort craft, source of the gas fumes, to take her aboard.

Podres Should Take Slight Bow For Five-Hit Hill Job

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

Johnny Podres doesn't take many bows. It's dangerous.

But there's no doubt the shrewd left-hander with the chronic back trouble was entitled to take just a little dip from the waist Monday night after his five-hit pitching carried Los Angeles to a 2-1 victory over Milwaukee and to within one-half game of the National League lead.

Plagued by back trouble since the start of his professional career, Podres has been both brilliant and baffling for the Dodgers since he joined the club in 1953. For the last three weeks, he had again been a problem, unable to win.

Then, against the Braves, the 31-year-old hurler completed another amazing flip-flop, turning in one of his strongest performances of the season. He struck out 12 and walked only two while recording his sixth complete game for a 5-6 record.

The decisive run came home on Wally Moon's pinch-hit double in the ninth inning off Braves starter Bob Sadowski, who wound up he came to Milwaukee in the with a four-hitter and is 0-2 since trade that sent Lew Burdette to St. Louis.

The Cardinals, meanwhile, lost to Houston 4-3 in 11 innings on Rusty Staub's key single. It was the Colts sixth victory in their last seven extra-inning games, all won by relief specialist Hal Woodeshick.

In other games, fourth-place Cincinnati showed its home run punch in edging third-place San Francisco 4-3 and Pittsburgh and Philadelphia split. The Pirates won the opener 2-1 before the Phillies took the nightcap 8-1. New York's Mets and the Chicago Cubs were idle.

Palmer Sets New Money Mark With Playoff Victory

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Arnold Palmer, with his fifth tour victory and a bushel basket full of money, heads for England Wednesday in quest of his third straight British Open golf championship.

The 33-year-old Pennsylvania 67 Monday to defeat Tony Lema plutocrat carved out a five-birdie and Tommy Aaron by three strokes in their playoff for the Cleveland Open — a $110,000 fixture.

They had tied at 273, or 11 under par for the 72-hole jaunt over Beechmont Country Club 6,688-yard course.

The victory gave Palmer $221,000, boosted his three-week take to $54,000, ran his 1963 winnings to a record $85,545, and his 10-year total to an unapproached $430,323.

Lema, 29, San Leandro, Calif., pro, and Aaron, 26 from Gainesville, Ga., picked up $8,550 each. It was the biggest payday for Aaron, who has never won a pro tourney and moved him to eighth in the earnings list with $22,550. Lema has the Memphis Open title and several high finishes to his credit for a fourth-place $60,963.

The playoff, the last four holes of which were televised nationally, was anti-climactic. Palmer, with three birdies, was three ahead of Lema and four ahead of Aaron at the end of six holes. With five to play, just before they

Tigers To Begin Important Series

DETROIT (AP)—Ninth-place Detroit opens a series tonight important to the American League race.

The Tigers, though still not much to talk about, are in a position to gum things up for others as they begin a four-game set with the Minnesota Twins.

The Twins, working on a seven-day winning streak, are on the heels of the runner-up Chicago White Sox and are hopeful of working something good out of the faulty Tigers.

Coincidentally, the White Sox and the leading New York Yankees are meeting in a showdown series at New York from which the Twins could profit if Detroit obliges.

Manager Charlie Dressen is choosing Bill Falt to pitch the opener. Falt is seeking his fourth victory against three defeats. Dick Stigman (7-7) will work for Minnesota.

After the four-game even split with the Los Angeles Angels in the opening series of their home stay, the Tigers at least are improved in the record of recent performance.

Monday was an open date and the tired Al Kaline got a rest before resuming his attempt to win the league batting crown after his own recent slump. Al is hitting .320, keeping him in fifth place a full 31 points behind the leading Leon Wagner of Los Angeles.

In a six-week drive, the Twins have risen from last place to 2½ games behind the leading Yanks and a half game behind Chicago. Minnesota's record for the drive was 32 victories against 12 defeats. The drive began May 17. Over the same period Detroit lost 26 and won 17 games.

Giants Struggle For Third Spot

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—With the 1963 National League baseball season nearly one-half over, the defending champion San Francisco Giants are struggling to stay in third place.

They don't have a hitter over .300 and fielding has been erratic. Only the home run and some stingy pitching has kept them in contention 1½ games behind leading St. Louis.

"We aren't hitting," Manager Alvin Dark reiterated after his club left 13 runners stranded and lost to Cincinnati 4-3 Monday. "We haven't been hitting all year. I'm still waiting."

Willie Mays, in an awful slump, made the final out in three innings with mates in scoring position and his batting average dropped to .257.

As a club, the Giants are hitting just .243, but fortunately their pitchers have held opponents to an average of .237. Marichal leads the hurlers with eight straight victories.

Willie McCovey has blasted 18 homers, Cepeda, 16, Mays 14, Felipe Alou and Ed Bailey 13 each, with a team total of 89.

German Registers Tennis Upset In Wimbledon Games

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Wilhelm Bungert, German tennis star and chief upset maker at Wimbledon, kept discreetly silent today about a plan he has hatched to beat America's Chuck McKinley and win a place in the men's final of the Wimbledon tennis championships.

They meet in the semifinals Wednesday.

Bungert, 24, who sensationally knocked out top-seeded Roy Emerson of Australia 8-6, 3-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3 Monday, told newsmen he has his plans for the match.

"I played against McKinley in the West of England champion ships at Bristol the other week," Bungert said. "He beat me, but I studied him carefully.

"I've got some ideas about how to deal with him. Of course, I'm not going to say what they are. I'll just say this much—he moves about the court very fast."

McKinley, of San Antonio, Tex., looked in good form in defeating British Davis Cup star Bobby Wilson 8-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Berra To Miss All-Star Game

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Yankee catcher-coach Yogi Berra failed to make the American League All-Star team this year, breaking a string of 14 consecutive seasons in which the stubby receiver has appeared in at least one game.

The 38-year-old catcher, who now doubles as a coach for the Yankees, is hitting only .196 in 26 games for the defending world champions. He has been used principally as a pinch hitter,

July Fourth Plans Announced

The annual American Legion-sponsored July Fourth celebration begins here Thursday with a breakfast at 7 a.m., for Queen Jean Nelson and will be followed by the traditional Kiddie Parade at 9:15 a.m., and the regular parade at 10:45 a.m.

The Kiddie parade will assemble at Triangle Park at 8:45 a.m., and proceed on Cedar to Main and Maple, and then to the high school grounds, back of the old gym. The stadium area has been reseeded and is not being used. Prizes, favors and ice cream will be distributed.

The general parade assemblies at 10:15 a.m., at Fifth and Deer and will proceed on Deer and River to Oak and Lake St. Street sports will be conducted on Cedar, between Walnut and Oak at 1 p.m. and afterwards will be conducted on Deer between Mackinac and Houghton and between Second and Third streets.

At 3 p.m., a parachutist's performance is scheduled at the airport, with Larry Boyd as pilot, and at 4 p.m., a softball game will be featured. Highlights of the afternoon include a baseball game at 2 between the All Stars and the Chiefs.

The evening show at 7:15 p.m. will be at the band shell instead of the stadium due to the reseeding and will include a band concert and other entertainment.

Roosevelt Jr. Likes His Job

By The Associated Press

Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., undersecretary of commerce and former Democratic congressman from New York City, said he is not a candidate for the U.S. Senate from New York next year or for any other office.

He said he is very happy in his present post.

Roosevelt made the statement on a radio and television program taped in Washington for broadcast on New York State stations Sunday. Roosevelt answered a question by Republican Sen. Kenneth E. Keating, who is expected to run for re-election in New York in 1964.

Jack Lemmon and Shirley MacLaine are the 141st and 142nd movie stars to have their footprints placed in cement in the forecourt of Grauman's Chinese theater in Hollywood.

Bette Davis has made it official — her 16-year-old daughter, Barbara, will marry Jeremy Hyman, 23, a London film executive.

Word leaked out a week ago about the engagement of the couple who met at the Cannes Film Festival. Sunday night the actress-mother invited 80 friends to the Bel-Air Hotel in Hollywood and made the formal announcement.

CAB Denies Plea Of Sheboygan For Airliner Service

The Civil Aeronautics Board has concluded that North Central Airlines shall redesignate Manitowoc, Wis., as Manitowoc/Sheboygan, to be served through Manitowoc Municipal Airport and denied an application of Sheboygan County for scheduled air service at Sheboygan County Airport.

The report pointed out that "authorization of separate airport service at Sheboygan would produce other undesirable results. It would add another point in a general area where North Central is already obligated to provide a substantial amount of service on short-haul flights at close-by airports."

This is the so-called "Golden Quadrangle," an area in Wisconsin 42 miles wide and 120 miles long extending from north of Green Bay to south of Milwaukee. The quadrangle is served by nine airports capable of receiving North Central's DC-3 service, and six receive it. Within the northern half of this quadrangle, in which Manitowoc and Sheboygan are located, there are six airports capable of receiving the carrier's DC-3 service, and four receive it.

Judges To Hear Scholle's Suit

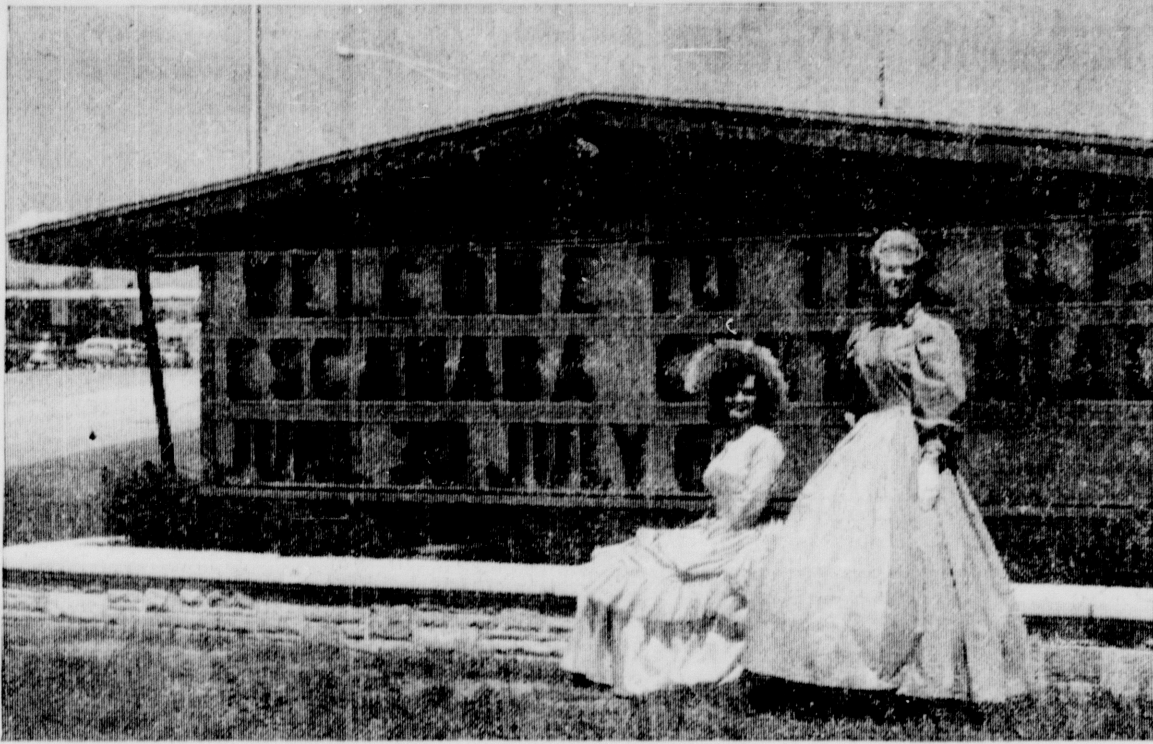

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. District Judge Fred Kaess said Monday he and two other federal judges have been appointed as a panel to hear a suit fighting the legislative reapportionment sections of the new Michigan Constitution.

Kaess said he, U.S. District Judge Stephen Roth and U. S. Court of Appeals Judge Clifford O'Sullivan were named by the chief judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals, Lester Cecil.

The suit, filed by August (Gus) Scholle and others, is against the Michigan secretary of state, James Hare. The Michigan AFL-CIO chief wants an injunction preventing any elections under the legislative apportionment sections of the new Constitution.

Scholle has contended that the Michigan House and Senate are not apportioned along straight population lines and therefore are unconstitutional.

Judge Kaess said the panel will await filing of an answer in the suit.

First Printer Of Press Here

Dr. Henry C. Hansen of Kearney, Neb., is a Centennial Week visitor in Escanaba and recalling when he fed the first sheet of paper into the old Escanaba Morning Press in 1909 at 1119 Ludington St.

Born in Escanaba in 1896, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Hansen, (his father was a Chicago & North Western Railway section man), he worked as a youth for the Escanaba Daily Mirror, the Escanaba Iron Port and the Escanaba Morning Press as a printer's devil.

"A kid named Lawrence Perry and I used to carry the country edition of the Press down to the post office on our backs," said Dr. Hansen. "They didn't even give us a red wagon. I did everything in the Press shop but run the linotype. I didn't know how to run a linotype. They only had one in my time."

"I worked a year or two for John Norton on the Press, before I went to Chicago for high school and my pre-medical studies. I went to night school, worked on the Chicago Tribune and other places until I finished my night schooling."

"I studied medicine at the Chicago College of Medicine & Surgery, finishing in 1917. I went to Minneapolis for a year and then went into the service. After the war I located in western Minnesota and then moved to Kearney."

Mrs. Hansen is here with her husband. They have four children. The Hansens are guests of his sister, Mrs. Ludwig Kjellberg, 1011 6th Ave. S.

Begin Reading Course At EAHS

A class in remedial reading was started at the new Escanaba Area High School Monday with a full class registered. The maximum number of students in the class is 10.

Mary McDonough is teaching the class. She is a former teacher in the Wells school system.

The course will run for four weeks and will include one and a half hours of instruction each day during the week.

Registration Is Required For Swimming Lessons

WELLS—The Wells Township Recreation Committee wants to remind all those who are interested in having their children take swimming lessons to register at the Escanaba Municipal Beach before July 9. Francis Lueneburg is in charge at the beach and he must have the parents' or guardians' signature before lessons can be given.

Lessons will begin Tuesday, July 9, from 10 a. m. to 12 noon, and continue every Tuesday and Thursday thereafter for a 6-week period.

Arrangements have been made for transportation to be furnished by the township. Scheduled pickups are: 8:30 a. m., Groos Store; 8:45, Soo Hill School; 9:05, Pine Ridge School, and 9:30, Wells School. The children will be returned after the course of instruction at noon.

Children who fail to board the bus after lessons for the return trip will be left behind and their parents notified. Parents who call for their children at the beach must notify the chaperone or the bus driver.

Byron Ford of Groos will be the driver and the mothers of the children will be asked to chaperone.

Baseball games for the beginners in Wells Recreation League are scheduled so that no games are played on Tuesday or Thursday mornings and they will be able to take part in both programs.

For additional information on any phase of the Wells Recreation program call Roger Kell at ST6-5019.

Action Promised On Civil Rights

GROSSE POINTE (AP) — Gov. George Romney says Michigan's new Civil Rights Commission will be ready to operate as soon as the state's new constitution takes effect next Jan. 1.

Romney made the promise to anti-discrimination marchers here Saturday — he was one of the marchers — in calling the constitution's civil rights clause the "clearest, strongest and completest" of any in the United States.

"The elimination of human inequalities and injustices is our most urgent and critical domestic problem," Romney said. "Until these are eliminated our words will have a hollow and hypocritical sound to the rest of the world."

He is now in the process of selecting members of the commission.

Romney, appearing voluntarily, marched at the head of a parade of about 500 persons, about 40 per cent of them white people. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People sponsored the demonstration in what it called a protest of housing discrimination. All was peaceful. The paraders marched in both Grosse Pointe and Grosse Pointe Park under permits.

Romney deplored housing discrimination. He said it has been "excessive." He said "some of it practiced in this particular part of the state is particularly reprehensible."

A "points system" used by some real estate interests in grading prospective home buyers in the Pointes communities on the basis of race, color, nationality, family background and other factors has been a subject of controversy.

An attorney general's ruling to outlaw the practice was thrown out by the State Supreme Court on technical grounds. The court held this to be a legislative matter outside jurisdiction of a state agency.
